Track Handicapper – Gabe Prewitt

Race 1		Selections	6-5-2	Dunn chose 6 over 3
1	Isowant apetrock	This guy has held his own against stakes rivals in OH to begin his career, but I'm not quite convinced he is as sharp right now as what we saw earlier in the summer. Fairly wide open group, but he will need his best punch.
2	Quizzer	Finally did show up last week and put in a nice even effort to be 4 th , and should continue to improve if he can keep his mind on business this afternoon. Wouldn't take much more to put him squarely in the mix.
3	McCam	Made an uncharacteristic break in stride while threading through traffic last week, but seemed to be back on the right track prior. One of several in here with a chance for a minor share.
4	Force N Fury	Couldn't quite hang with the top ones in late stages last week, but this guy has proven he packs some speed to this point in his brief career. Again, it seems to be a wide open group.
5	Major Risky	Took an aggressive swing on the front-end here in week one, and came up just short in there in a big effort. Anything similar to that may be enough to seal the deal against this crew.
6	Captain Video	This guy is likely going to fly under the radar this afternoon, but do note he took a lot of tote action last time and he was on the move first up and gaining when he made a break. I'm assuming he has some talent, I'll give him upset edge.

Race 2		Selections	4-6-3-5	Start of the 50-Cent Pick 5
1	Lottery Winner	Picked a bad time to make a break in stride here last week, and just doesn't seem to be quite as sharp right now as what we saw earlier this summer. Hooks a solid group this afternoon, would need a quick turnaround.
2	Cheerio Hill	A notch below the top ones in his local debut, and appears to be facing a similar scenario here this afternoon. I will consider for the bottom of exotics only once again.
3	Roll With JR	Talented colt has bounced back with two of his most impressive efforts to date since adding Lasix, including a nice stakes win here last week down the road. Maybe a touch better group overall today, but he's proven he belongs.
4	Capt Midnight	Got used extremely hard making the lead in the $562k Metro as the fav, but still put in a very solid bid there to be 3 rd . He's proven he is one of the very top colts in North America to this point. I'll look for a big rebound.
5	Fortify	He's been knocking on the door against some very good company to this point, and appears to be in play for a minor share again today after landing in a tough group once more.
6	Catch The Fire	Did a lot of the heavy lifting on the lead in that world record mile last week, with the quick fractions taking their toll in the late stages. He's been ultra-consistent to this point in his career. Major player.
7	Lou'sSweet Revenge	Not much of a factor in his local debut, and lands on the outside of a good group again this afternoon. I'll wait for a better spot.

Race 3		Selections	2-5-4-7	Dunn chose 7 over 1
1	Sand btwn mytoes	Picked off a couple of tired rivals in the stretch last week, but still a notch below the top colts in his Grand Circuit debut. Likely facing another similar uphill battle this afternoon.
2	Moneyman Hill	This guy missed the gate by 8 lengths or so, and then made another break around the far turn. He made an amazing recovery after all of that to be close. I'll give him slight upset edge and hope he minds his manners here.
3	Genius Man	Got caught up in huge mile here last week, but is still likely going to have to pick things up a bit to make any major noise today against another good group.
4	Cattlewash	Rebounded with a BIG effort here last week, that win was even much easier than it looks on paper. He has proven he packs a powerful punch to this point in his brief career. Lots to like.
5	Put to Right	This guy continues to outrace his odds every single time he is on the track, finishing a nice 2 nd in that world record event here last week at 11-1. Lands in a touch softer group overall today it seems. Major player.
6	The Greek Freak	The Freak was even here last week, but is still likely a notch or two below the top ones in here right now. Would have to pick things up a bit still.
7	Major Betts	Lost all chance with the early break in stride here last week, but we know this guy has some talent from his prior starts. Wouldn't shock me to see him bounce back and race better this afternoon.

Race 8Selections*7-2-3-4*Tetrick chose 1 over 5

1	FiftyDallar Bill	Finished a distant second in behind the runaway winner at Dayton, and has been a fringe player on the FFA stakes scene all season long, already banking nearly $200k. I will consider him for bottom of exotics.
2	Lindy the Great	This guy has enjoyed a breakout summer, and keep in mind he has done well over this track in the past. Obliterated a tough group in most recent try at Hoosier, must respect current form spree.
3	Crystal Fashion	He's been roughed up over the last couple of starts, but he was in razor sharp form prior to those efforts. I wouldn't be shocked to see a major rebound this afternoon with any smoother journey. Major player.
4	Eurobond	Another trotter that has enjoyed a lot of success this season, and he gets a deserving chance to step back up and tackle stakes rivals this afternoon. Local tuneup was very impressive, and he's enjoyed success here in the past as well.
5	La Grange A	A notch below local Preferred rivals, and steps up in an even deeper group this afternoon. Might be asking a bit much still. I'll wait for a better spot.
6	The Veteran	We know this guy packs plenty of speed, but the train hasn't been completely on the tracks of late, he's missed nearly a month into today. Will he get his very best punch here? Not sure.
7	Six Pack	Had some good late trot in most recent try at Hoosier in a start he definitely needed. He set the 3yo world record over the red clay in winning the 2018 KY Futurity. Sitting on another big mile today for red hot barn? I think so.
8	Mission Accepted	He's been holding his own against top shelf company all season, hitting the board in 11 of 18 while earning well over a quarter-million into today. That said, faces a difficult assignment today from a tough post. Won't be easy.
9	Trolley	Was a runner-up in behind a tough rival in his tuneup at Hoosier, and I'm just not convinced he is tightened up enough to hang with the top ones in here from a tough starting slot today. I'll watch one more.
10	Pinkman	The 2015 KY Futurity Champ put in a solid bid in local overnight two back, but he hasn't had an abundance of success against the top level this season and gets slammed with post 10 today as well. Not sure I like that combination.

Race 9Selections*3-9-2-7*Kakaley chose 5 over 8

1	Queen of the Pride	The Queen gave a very nice account of herself in local return, just missing 2 nd in there in a tight photo with #2. Should end up with another nice tracking trip today after landing on the pole. I'll consider her underneath once again.
2	Beautyon thebeach	She has been RAZOR sharp of late, including in a good runner-up effort here last week in behind #9. Should be part of the early pace scenario again today from an improved post. I'll toss her on the ticket once more.
3	Warrawee Ubeaut	How good is this filly right now? She crushed her foes in Delaware, and has been on a tear over the last several months. She has proven she is at the head of the class of late, I'll look for her to tack on another.
4	Carbon Capture	Overmatched as a big longshot in the Juliette final, and retains longshot status this afternoon after landing in a shark tank locally. I'll wait for a better spot.
5	Sylph Hanover	Came flying up from an impossible spot here last week in the best performance we've seen from her in a long time. Should be sitting closer today in earlier stages, but it's a power packed group. Will need her absolute very best.
6	Zero Tolerance	I have always been a HUGE fan of hers, but I must admit I was very disappointed here last week after she came up empty with a perfect trip. Will need a quick bounce back effort today. Your call.
7	Tall Drink Hanover	I'm assuming the fractions took their toll here last week, and keep in mind she had missed a couple of weeks prior to that effort as well. She has enjoyed a very nice campaign, should bounce back today.
8	Annie Hill	I know she came from FAR back, but I thought the race really set up nicely for her in the LC ranks last week and she couldn't take advantage. Takes a step up to the big leagues here today. Difficult assignment.
9	Trchrs Reign	Wow! Talk about a huge rebound effort, she followed up her two-heat Juliette performance with an ultra-impressive first over win here last week. I was VERY impressed with that mile.
10	Stone bridgeSoul	She's held her own with good company all season long, she's just had the unfortunate task of running into #3 on too many occasions, including from a tough post today. Won't be easy.

Race 10		Selections	6-5-4-7-8	Dunn chose 12 over 11
1	Celebrate It All	Gets post relief this afternoon, but still likely going to have to step things up a bit to hang with the top ones here in big bulky field. I'll pass for now.
2	Gobi Princess	Should enjoy the dip into the LC ranks after she was overmatched against stakes rivals last week, but this is still no easy assignment here today. Going to need her absolute best punch to make any major noise. Your call.
3	July	No factor here in her seasonal debut, likely still going to need another start or two before we get anything close to her best. Pass for now.
4	Kenziesky Hanover	She unleashed a BIG effort in local debut, threading through rivals late to score the mild upset there. Lands back in against essentially the same group again today. Must respect.
5	Special Honor	She was a bit 'cold' on the board last week, but I was very impressed with her effort. She made a nice move and nearly lasted before tiring in the final yards. Plenty of options from another good post today. Major player.
6	Sensibility	She was used HARD on the lead here last week, so I'm not holding that against her in the disappointing result. Might be overlooked a bit, but I think with a smoother journey she will bounce back. Live longshot? I think so.
7	Supergirl Riley	She was carried a bit wide as the fav last week, but I must admit I was still a bit disappointed that she didn't have a little more on the end of it after the quick early pace scenario. Just not quite convinced she is at her best right now.
8	Aunt Rose	I thought the OH filly hung in very well for a long way last week after she didn't have the easiest of trips. The only problem is she lands another tough post in another big field. Might be facing a similar scenario today.
9	Lady Allaire	She's raced well against local overnight rivals, but lands a tough post today in big bulky field coming off a 'sick' scratch. Not sure I like the sounds of that.
10	Corner stone	No factor in local debut, would need a complete turnaround here today. Pass for now.
11	Solatire Hill	Regressed back into a break in her debut for new barn here last week. She's getting to be a bit hard to trust at this point. Pass.
12	Seventh Heaven	A good solid effort in her first local spin, but unfortunately will have to navigate from another 2 nd tier starting slot today. I'll consider for bottom of Super Hi-Five tix once again.
